D3 Cherry Blossoms at Seonjiliseong Fortress

Seonjiliseong Fortress is an earthen fortress constructed on a flat mountain using the Sacheonpo Bay terrains built during the Goryeo Dynasty to protect Tongyang Warehouse, one of 12 grain warehouses. During the Japanese Invasion of Korea in 1592, the Japanese military reconstructed the fortress and later became the center of a ferocious battlefield where Admiral Yi Sun-sin emerged victorious against the Japanese troops. To honor the fallen of the Goryeo fortress and Jungsan Fortress, both were restored. During spring, cherry blossom tunnels and cherry trees greet the tourists who visit the Fortress.
