9 Seonjilliseong Fortress

Seonjilliseong Fortress was constructed to protect the Tongyangchang Storehouse, which was 1 of 12 tribute granaries during the Goryeo Dynasty. It was then remodeled into a Japanese fortress by the Japanese army during the Japanese invasion of Korea in 1592, and was the site of the ferocious battle at which the Admiral Yi Sun-Shin defeated the Japanese invaders. A cherry blossom tunnel and cherry blossom trees line the long path towards Seonjilli Fortress and their magnificent beauty attracts many tourists in the spring. 😢 Around #770 Seonjin-ri, Yonghyeon-myeon
